

An adsorbent medium comprises particles of a cellulosic sponge material carrying functional groups. This medium is especially useful for purifying DNA in an aqueous sample.

[illegible]